Flies Used in Nervous System Study

By ROBERT COOKE

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists, trying to learn how a nervous system works, are looking at the world through flies' eyes.

They say they've gotten so good at it they can tell rather precisely what a fly sees and how well as it buzzes away, transfixed, in a special fly "planetarium."

The eye test is part of a program to study the entire nervous system to find how it works. Scientists hope, for instance, to see how light received by the eye is translated into consciousness and action. Ultimately, the research could help development of electronic eyes that read print.

Says Dr. Gilbert McCann, director of the California Institute of Technology's Booth Computing Center:

"We've been studying many creatures, but the fly seems to fit our needs best. The fly's nervous system has many properties that are similar to the human system, although the fly's is simpler. It's complicated enough, though, to be interesting."

McCann and his researchers work with the flies in lower levels of the ultramodern computing center, where a special laboratory is fitted out to serve as

Candidate Quits, Can't Stand Maddox

By JOE ZELLNER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Democratic leaders in Atlanta and Fulton County, Georgia's most populous area, were seeking another candidate for Congress today after Rep. Charles L. Wellner announced he could not remain on the same ticket with segregationist Lester G. Maddox, Democratic nominee for governor.

Wellner's announcement Monday that he would not run for a third term stunned the state's Democratic party. And it put the burden of naming a new candidate upon the Fulton County Democratic Executive Committee since the primary is past.

Chairman Thomas S. Adair said he would call a meeting of the 85-member committee later this week, possibly Wednesday, to select an opponent for Republican Fletcher Thompson who was nominated by petition.

Wellner, 38, said constant criticism of the federal government and President Johnson have been "a poisonous injection into the body politic of this state."

"I cannot compromise with hate. I cannot vote for Lester Maddox," he said. "I cannot keep a pledge requiring Democratic primary candidates to vote for party nominees in the general election."

Among the first persons mentioned to replace Wellner on the Democratic ticket were Leroy Johnson, Georgia's first Negro state senator in 92 years; former Atlanta Mayor William B. Hartsfield and Wyman C. Lowe, a perennial candidate who lost to Wellner in the primary.

Johnson, who four years ago became Georgia's first Negro legislator in modern times, said he was serious about seeking the nomination.

Maddox, 51, who sold his restaurant rather than comply with a federal court order to serve Negroes, said the Democratic party "is becoming more conservative by the hour. I wonder how long it will be before the conservative strength of the Democratic party reaches all the way into the White House."

Rep. Howard H. (Bo) Callaway, Republican nominee for governor, said Wellner's withdrawal, though a surprise, "proves how foolish the Democratic pledge is. This is the sort of thing Mr. Wellner should have foreseen when he signed that oath."

a combination paradise-nightmare for flies. The paradise part is the fly's secure, comfortable home, where he's born, fed and bred. Life is simple—until he's put to work. Then begins the nightmare.

Flies selected for experiments first find little cardboard tabs glued to their backs. The tabs are used for identifying each fly and as handles to keep them tied down.

And tied down they are—to computers. The identifying tab is hooked, fly and all, into a supersensitive meter that tells the computer which way a fly would fly if allowed to. The fly and meter are then placed inside the fly planetarium, where lights of different patterns and shapes can be spotted inside the dome-like surface.

Thus, by startling the fly with lights, and by varying the lights, scientists see how the fly responds.

Howe Has Patience, Needs It

By JACK MILLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold Howe II, commissioner of education, is a big, pipe-smoking man who thinks "it's pretty important to keep your patience."

It's fortunate he feels that way.

Because after nine months in his job, Howe has become one of the most heavily criticized public figures in America. Congressmen recently have described him variously as the commissar and czar of education, as a "foul blot on the escutcheon of decency" and as a man who talks like a Communist.

The criticism was triggered by his department's efforts to carry out mandates on public school desegregation.

Howe says "a great many political leaders and others have created a very effective propaganda against what's required by the law. . . (It) has been largely a manufactured smokescreen."

He predicts matter-of-factly that it will continue because,

"unfortunately, it gets votes."

Far from being crushed by the burdens of his office, the 48-year-old former prep school history teachers says:

"It's extremely interesting... (to be) obviously involved with the central issues in society, an exciting place to be."

Last week, Howe was called before the House Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., told him:

"Your field agents are harassing and hammering school officials, telling them to get some Negro children in white schools."

Howe, a 6-foot-3 200-pounder, puffed calmly on his pipe, answered calmly and maintained his reputation for coolness.

That reputation was to be tested again today, when he returns for more questioning by the committee. And Monday, announced that the House Judiciary Committee which he heads will investigate the school desegregation guidelines of the office of education.

What are Howe's main goals for the nation's schools?

He lists two: (1) To make all schools better — especially those in central-city areas "whether they're all white or all black or mixed;" and (2) to seek, "with local initiative, some solution to the problem of segregation."

1,000 Dead in Nigeria Tribal War

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—About 1,000 persons are believed dead following five days of tribal warfare in northern Nigeria, but the nation's military government claims the situation is under control.

The fighting between the northern Hausa tribe and Ibo immigrants from the eastern region erupted Wednesday and intensified over the weekend when northern soldiers and civilians massacred about 300 Ibos in the city of Kano, 520 miles north of Lagos.

Lt. Col. Yakubu Gowon, head of the military government, expressed grief over the violence but told a constitutional conference at Lagos that the situation was under control.

The conference was adjourned until Oct. 24.

Reports from the north said Kano was quite Monday, with the city under a dusk-to-dawn curfew. Lt. Col. Hassan Usman Katsina, military governor of the north, reportedly has ordered army troops patrolling the city to shoot anyone caught molesting others or looting.

The northern Hausa tribesmen fear that the eastern Ibos are trying to dominate Nigeria politically and militarily.

Many Ibos, generally better educated than the northerners, migrated to the north, where their training enabled them to dominate the skilled jobs.

Northern Nigeria has a population of about 29 million. Estimates of the Ibos there range from 300,000 to one million. Since tribal violence broke out several months ago, about 60,000 have fled back to their homeland.

Restrictions on Names

The Jockey Club places two important restrictions on the naming of race horses. The owner must not come up with a name previously given to a horse in the last 15 years and he must forego names of "classic" race horses.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

FLIPPED FLOP

Dear Helen: I'm a boy who has flipped over a girl, but I am a real flop at letting her know it. She has a girl friend who is a regular radio station — she tells everything. So I mentioned it to her how much I liked No. 1 girl but she must have blown a tube. Nothing happens.

I told some other people hoping it would get back to her. Still nothing happened. She looks at me, but she won't speak, and I'm — Afraid To

Dear A. T.: You're broadcasting on the wrong wave length. This gal is waiting for direct communication. Try "Hi!" — Frequently! — H.

Dear Helen: I like this guy very much and he's a real fine, ambitious, clean kid. I want to introduce him to my family, but he comes from a dumpy part of town, and his folks have bad reputations. My mother is always telling me to keep away from people like that. It isn't HIS fault, who he got born to.

I don't want to be a sneak, but I'm afraid they'll make me stop seeing him, because he isn't "one of us". What shall I do? — IMS

Dear I: If the boy is all you say, he'll have no trouble proving he is worthy of you. Bring him home and you may be surprised to learn your folks are not as snobbish as you think. — H.

Dear Helen: I'm so in love I can't see straight. I'm still in school, so I thought getting pregnant would force my parents to let me get married. My boy friend has a good job and can support me. But now that I'm in trouble he says it would be too embarrassing on the job for him to be a seven-months father, so I should go away, give the baby away, and THEN we'll get married when we can start clean, parents? — Changed Plans

Dear C.P.: You certainly can't see straight! In fact you're stone blind, you can't see you've been used and discarded by a fellow you're lucky to lose.

There's no easy way to tell parents, but you can be sure they won't dump you, as your weaseling boy friend has. — H.

STILL A LITTLE BOY TO THEM

Dear Helen: I'm a boy in my mid-teens. My parents won't face it I'm growing up. When my sister's kids come over, my mother says, "Run out and play with them." Ka-riminy cops and robbers with juveniles?

They don't let me make any decisions or do what other kids my age take for granted. When my friends cover over, she says nerves are on edge." But when her friends come, boy howdy, I have to sit like I was happy as a lark, when I'm miserable as a wet hen.

Also my teenager sister and I have to do all the housework. I get for it? H.E.C.K.I.

I have to share my sister's room. I have no privacy. When I try to tell them my point of view, they say I am sassy and don't know how to respect my elders. What respect do I get? Nothing but more heck. Please give me some advice. — Lost Boy

Dear B: I can't remake your parents long-distance, but I can make a remark to ALL parents of teenagers: if you want consideration and respect, give them! When you treat them as children don't expect them to react like young adults.

P.S. Move out of your sister's room, even if you must sleep on the divan. Parents should separate the boys from the girls long before teenage. — H.

COPYRIGHT, 1966, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE INC. Ex-Arkansan Shot to Death

REDDING, Calif. (AP) — The Shasta (Calif.) County Coroner's office said Monday that a former Arkansan found dead in the cab of his large truck tractor was killed by gunshot. The slayer poured gasoline over the body of Kenny Fred Hackett, 43, and the truck cab, and set them afire Sunday — apparently to conceal the slaying, Sheriff John Balma said.

Hackett, a businessman, came to Redding four years ago from Shirley, Ark. The victim's wife told authorities her husband and an unidentified man argued in their front yard. Hackett left later to move a trailer, she said. A motorist later spotted the truck.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Bible," on which John Huston labored for two years in Rome, Sardinia, Sicily and North Africa, has been brought forth for public and critics to behold.

It is very good. It is likely the best epic ever filmed from a biblical subject. But it does not sustain the judgment of Huston, who has said that it is the best film he has ever been connected with.

As he himself points out, "The Bible" cannot be compared in content with "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre," "The African Queen," "The Asphalt Jungle" and other memorable Huston films. But, for all its impressive qualities, "The Bible" lacks the singleness of purpose and consistent quality of those earlier films.

Huston obviously set about to crack the clichés of Hollywood films about the Bible. He succeeds admirably in the first half of the film, hewing the line between the over-sanctity of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and the flamboyance of "The Ten Commandments."

The best comes first. The story of Creation is evoked with breath-taking beauty and imagination, and the Garden of Eden sequence comes off in poetic style. American Michael Parks and Scandinavian Ulla Bergryd play Adam and Eve like blond teen-agers, beguiling in their early innocence.

Huston moves east of Eden to a brief account of Cain and Abel, then stars himself as Noah. The director claims he played the role only as a last resort, when Charlie Chaplin and other choices proved unavailable. Huston also assumed the role of narrator and the voice of God after testing other actors.

This produces the absurdity of Huston as God talking to Huston as Noah. But that is minor distraction in what is otherwise a delightful and impressive sequence. The assembly of the animals is handled with Disneyesque humor, and the flood itself is awesome. How much theology is presented can be debated; but Huston, an admitted unbeliever, is not concerned with theology.

So much for the first half of "The Bible," which is subtitled "In the Beginning" just in case you're expecting the entire Old and New Testaments. The film covers only the first 22 chapters of Genesis.

Lamentably, the second half does not sustain the promise of the first. Perhaps Huston, script writer Christopher Fry and producer Dino de Laurentis were tiring after their long labors. More likely the problem lies with the material: the story of Abraham.

Despite the tasteful treatment of the subject and sturdy acting by George C. Scott as Abraham and Ava Gardner as Sarah, the saga only seems to evoke echoes of previous biblical films: the desert battles, the visitations of the angels — three, all played by Peter On Toole, the orgies of Sodom, which disappears in an atomic blast.

Drysdale to Open Series for Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Drysdale, who has Dodger Stadium on his side, will pitch the opening game of the World Series for Los Angeles Wednesday against Baltimore's Dave McNally, who has a telegram with 7,000 signatures on his.

Drysdale's weapon, the same one that will serve Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen, undoubtedly is more effective and is one of the major reasons Los Angeles' National League champions have been established as 8-5 favorites over the American League champion Orioles.

In five previous World Series games at Dodger Stadium, Koufax, Drysdale and Osteen have allowed just three runs, with each showing one shutout. The almost perfect pitching has brought the Dodgers' five victories and an unbeaten Series record at home.

McNally will have to match pitches with Drysdale, armed with a much less effective weapon — a telegram of good wishes sent by 7,000 of his hometown friends and admirers in Billings, Mont.

But, oddly enough, McNally got an unqualified nod from Manager Hank Bauer for the important opening game assignment while there's little doubt that Walt Alton, the Dodger manager, would have preferred to go with his 27-game winner, Sandy Koufax.

"Davey has the soundest arm on the staff right now," said Bauer. "If it goes seven games, we can give him three starts."

While Bauer could choose from a well-rested crew of starters since the Orioles clinched the AL pennant on Sept. 22, Alton's choice was dictated by the National League pennant race which didn't end until the final day of the season Sunday.

Both Drysdale and Koufax worked against the Phillies in a doubleheader wind-up to the tight NL pennant struggle, but Drysdale left early in the game while Koufax had to pitch a full nine innings to nail the Dodgers' second straight National League flag.

So Alton tapped Drysdale, 13-16 on the season, for the key opening-game assignment.

Dodgers to Use Same Lineup

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will use much the same lineup that clawed its way to the National League pennant when they open the World Series Wednesday against the Baltimore Orioles in Dodger Stadium.

Manager Walter Alton won't present his official batting order until game time, of course. But there will be no surprises. The Orioles' manager, Hank Bauer, has named left-hander Dave McNally, 13-6, to start in the first game.

This would indicate that percentage pilot Alton, who is blessed with an abundance of switch-hitters, will start right-handed batter Tommy Davis in the outfield.

The batting order probably will read like this: Maury Wills, Jim Gilliam, Willie Davis, Tommy Davis, Jimmy Lefebvre, Lou Johnson, John Roseboro, Wes Parker and pitcher Don Drysdale.

McNally to Go Against the Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dave McNally gets another lesson today on how to pitch against the Los Angeles Dodgers in the first game of the World Series Wednesday.

The Baltimore Orioles' left-hander already has digested several scouting reports about the Dodgers. But he is looking forward to some advice from teammates Frank Robinson and Stu Miller, who once played in the National League against Los Angeles.

"I'll probably pay more attention to Stu and Frank than the scouts because some of their reports vary," McNally said. "I've only faced the Dodgers a little bit in spring training and I don't remember much about them."

McNally will review the Los Angeles hitters today when the Orioles hold a workout at Chavez Ravine.

Porkers Go to 5th in Nat'l Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Powerful Notre Dame continued to gain ground on the leaders in this week's Associated Press college football poll while Arkansas, Tennessee and Florida also made rapid advances on the strength of impressive victories.

Michigan State leads the third straight week. The unbeaten Spartans, who won their third in succession by defeating Illinois 26-10 last Saturday, collected 371 points in the balloting by a national panel of 41 sports writers and broadcasters.

UCLA held second place with 345 points while Notre Dame was a close third with 322. The Irish moved up one notch while Alabama dropped one place to fourth.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc. Michigan State drew 20 first-place votes followed by Notre Dame with eight and UCLA, seven.

Arkansas, Southern California, Nebraska, Tennessee, Georgia Tech and Florida round out the Top Ten in that order.

Michigan, eighth a week ago, dropped out of the rankings after losing to North Carolina, 21-7. The Wolverines' place among the first 10 teams was taken by Florida which boosted its record to 3-0 by beating Vanderbilt and advanced to 10th place.

The Top Ten with first-place votes and total points:

1. Michigan St., 20 371
2. UCLA, 7 345
3. Notre Dame, 8 322
4. Alabama, 3 300
5. Arkansas, 2 206
6. So. California, 1 194
7. Nebraska 144
8. Tennessee 143
9. Georgia Tech 83
10. Florida 69

Washington Player Is Back of Week

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
At the University of Washington, they think Don Moore soon will make everybody forget about Mike Garrett. But all Woody Hayes wants to forget about is Don Moore.

The Huskies' halfback, who gained 221 yards in 30 carries as Washington pounded Ohio State 38-22 last Saturday, is the Associated Press' college football Back of the Week.

Ever since the season began, the Washington partisans have been saying that Moore is the rightful heir to Garrett of Southern California, the Heisman Trophy winner and premier back in college football last year.

"I expect they're right," said Hayes, the Ohio State coach after the game. His club had been two touchdown favorites before the game.

Moore, a 5-foot-9, 212-pound junior from Tacoma, Wash., was a little dazed by it all. "Unbelievable," he grinned in the jubilant Huskie locker room. "It feels nice, real nice."

Other nominees in the Back-of-the-Week category, were Rod Sherman, of Southern California, who sparked the Trojan attack against Oregon State and ran for a 75-yard touchdown; Dicky Thompson, of Alabama, who intercepted three Mississippi passes, and North Carolina quarterback Danny Talbot, who directed the club's upset victory over Michigan.

Hogs Unbeaten But Behind Statistically

DALLAS (AP) — Mike Leinert, who was supposed to replace Donny Anderson at Texas Tech, is making a big try at it—and with success.

Leinert took over the lead in ball carrying in the Southwest Conference last week with 118 yards against Texas A&M, including the season's longest run from scrimmage—a 59-yard gallop.

Leinert ran his total to 240 yards on 42 carries—18 more than the former leader, Bruce Maxwell of Arkansas.

But the most productive conference player last week was Richard Defee of Baylor, who caught four passes for 103 yards and carried the ball 18 times for 108.

It shot him into fifth place among the ball carriers but pass receiving doesn't count in total offense, so he is not among the leaders in that category.

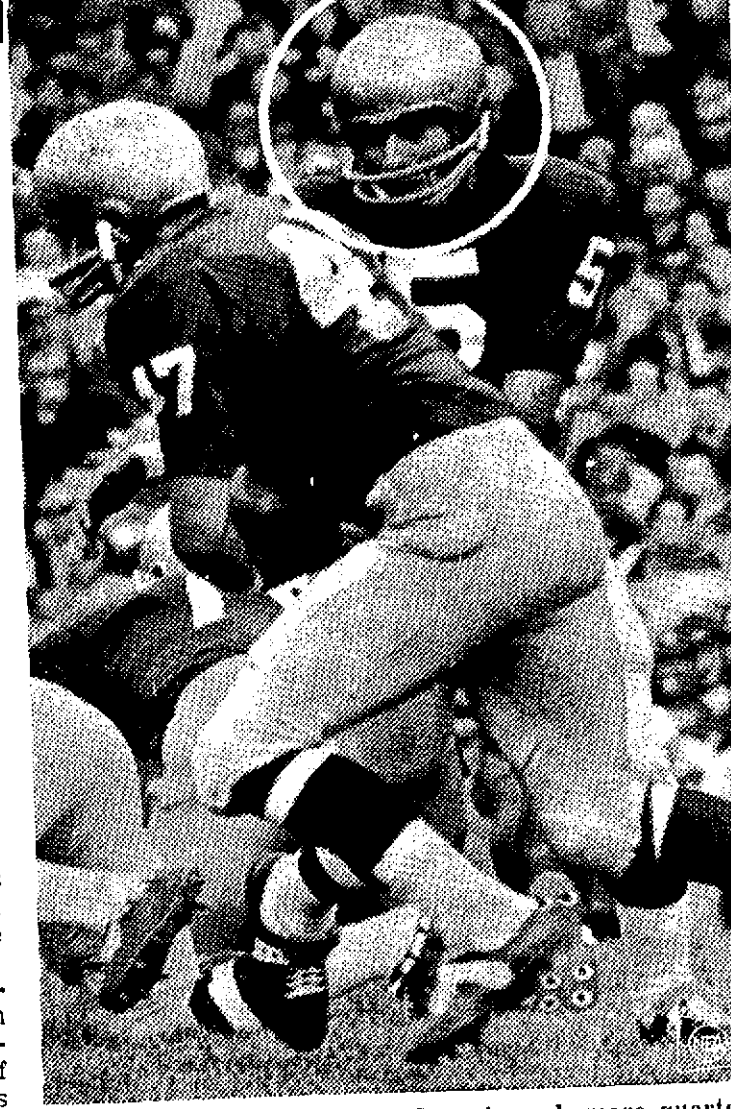

Terry Southall, Baylor quarterback, held onto his lead in passing but John Scovell of Texas Tech and Edd Hargett of Texas A&M are nipping at his heels.

Southall has completed 43 of 91 passes for 579 yards and six touchdowns. Scovell has 39 of 79 for 482 yards and four touchdowns and Hargett has connected on 38 of 66 for 466 yards and four scores.

Larry Gilbert of Texas Tech increased his pass-receiving leadership, now showing 20 catches for 299 yards. Sonny Campbell of Texas Christian is second with 15 for 173.

Donnie Gibbs of Texas Christian wrestled the punting lead from Bill Bradley of Texas, who was injured and did not kick against Indiana. Gibbs is averaging 44.5 yards on 11 boots. Bradley is 43.5 on 11.

Southall is the total offense leader with 595 yards on 111 plays and is 36 yards ahead of Scovell on the same number of tries.

HANDOFF goes from Notre Dame's sophomore quarterback Terry Hanratty (5) to halfback Nick Eddy (47). Hanratty and Eddy are two of the Irish players who will carry much of the burden of maintaining Notre Dame's position in the top 10 this season.

Outdoor Notebook

COLRAIN, Mass.—(NEA)—The man stood on the 10-mile bridge, watching the Green River swoop down through the chute between the hills. It had rained for two full days now, swelling the little river from the near lifeless trickle it had been for a month.

But now the man was smiling because he knew from 20 years of stream-watching that the browns and brookies and rainbows would be back with the highwater, holding stationary in the swirls and picking off the food that had been eroded from the banks.

The man opened his car trunk, slid on waders, rigged his flyrod with a royal coachman dryfly and stepped in at the bottom of a long black run. This is the first good moment of fishing, when optimism runs high and your arm is still strong and you have not hung your fly on an unreachable tree branch. Everything is clean: the stream, your casting, your temper and your creel.

But after a time of this without action, things get old, so the man climbed the bank and smoked and watched the river. It was a hot afternoon. The man shed his waders and felt better. He looked to the meadow behind him and watched the grasshoppers bounce crazily in the cut-over hay.

Right then the man remembered something from his boyhood in northern Wisconsin. Slipping off his hat, he climbed the hill and stalked the grasshoppers. After capturing three hoppers, the man switched the royal coachman for a number 14 hook and impaled the hopper on it.

He stopped by his waders and thought, "Why not? It's hot and I'm fishing with grasshoppers already. Why not?"

So came the second good moment. The man stepped back into the Green River and felt the coldness creep up his pants legs and chill his thighs. He edged his way to the head of a stretch of white water, flung the baited hook cross-current and watched it swing straight and drift into an eddy.

Mad Rush Is on for World Series Tickets

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ticket booths opened, there was a mad rush, and the tickets are gone.

The gates to Dodger Stadium opened at 1 p.m. Monday. In 45 minutes, 8,000 remaining tickets to the World Series were gone—at the rate of two to a customer, cash only.

Los Angeles Dodger officials said about 55,000 tickets for the home games have been sold.

Broyles Says Phillips Is Greatest

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said Monday that Razorback tackle Loyd Phillips is, "I believe, the greatest defensive lineman I've ever seen in college football."

Broyles made the assessment after grading a film of Arkansas' 21-0 victory over Texas Christian Saturday night.

"He just played a great game," Broyles said of the All-America Phillips. He made nine tackles and assisted on 10 others as the Porkers successfully opened their Southwest Conference season.

The fifth-ranked Razorbacks went through a one-hour practice session in sweat clothes, familiarizing themselves with Baylor's offensive and defensive patterns.

Arkansas and Baylor meet here Saturday afternoon. Broyles said tackle Dick Cunningham and center Melvin Gibbs had the highest grades on offense in the TCU game. He also announced that monster man Mike Jordan suffered a hip injury against the Frogs, but he said it should be all right within two or three days.

The entire defensive secondary of the Dallas Cowboys is composed of free agents (there are 15 on the roster altogether). And the best of them, corner back Cornell Green, never even played college football. He played basketball at Utah State. It was six weeks after he first reported for a Cowboy trial five years ago that Green discovered he'd been wearing his football pads backwards.

George Sauer Jr., the regular flanker for the New York Jets, is the only one-contact-lens receiver in pro ball. Seems the Jets got worried when they discovered that George was catching everything thrown over his left shoulder and dropping all from the other direction. They tested his eyes and found a lack of depth perception in his right orb. Hence, the one corrective contact lens.

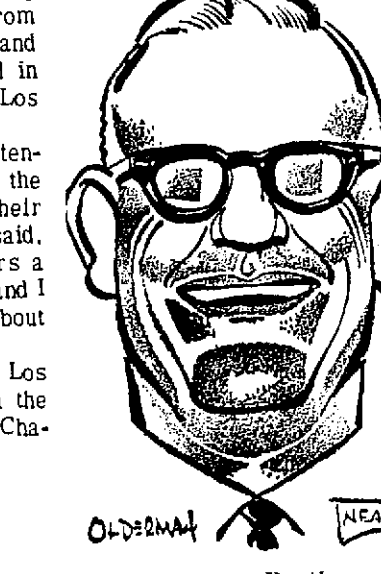

Once the football season starts, Coach Tommy Prothro of UCLA finds himself worrying less and enjoying it more. "I'm a lot more relaxed after the first game," insists Tommy, "than I am long before the season starts. That's when the pressure starts building up." Of course, the way UCLA shapes up as a powerhouse lightens Tommy's outlook, too. He admits, "We're a little further ahead in team strength than we were last year and in team mobility. But last year, on several occasions, we were 10 to 11 points behind and won. We haven't had a character test like that yet."

It has been a memorable season for Dave Johnson of the Baltimore Orioles. Dave's the rookie second baseman who won a regular job on a championship team. But one thing puzzles him—his batting average in the .250s. "Hitting," he says, "has always come very easy for me."

Mike Souchock is in the midst of a five-week hunting siesta away from the golf tours. Before going back to his home in Durham, N.C., Mike was reminiscing about fate. Twenty years ago he was a varsity end and golfer at Duke, while Annie Palmer and Buddy Worsham, who came from the same area he did in western Pennsylvania, were on the neighboring Wake Forest golf team. At a dance in Durham after a football game, Mike was supposed to return to Wake Forest with Worsham for a round of golf with Buddy and Annie the next day. But Mike decided to stay in Durham so he could attend church the next morning (he's Catholic and Wake Forest is a Baptist school), then meet his buddies. Annie, supposed to go home with Worsham from the dance, too, had skipped out early. En route home, Worsham's car hit a tree, and young Buddy—rated then the best golfing prospect of the three—was killed.

It happened during a road trip when the New York Jets' charter plane came in on an emergency landing after an engine conked out. The field was flooded, and the beams penetrated the plane cabin. "Wouldn't you know," Mrs. Sonny Werblin (wife of the Jets' owner) broke the tension. "Some joker would have his brights on?"

Pepper Rodgers, the backfield coach at UCLA, has a special distinction. He was the backfield coach at Florida before heading west last year, so that makes him the only man who taught both Steve Spurrier and Gary Belam, two of the top quarterbacks in the nation. "Spurrier's a better scrambler," says Pepper. "Belam's stronger and has more poise. Otherwise it's a standoff, and I'd hate to make either one mad by comparing them."

Where Every GI Treated Like a VIP

By AL CHANG
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — At a compound of wooden barracks painted green, a handful of combat veterans treat every GI like a VIP.
The compound is Camp Alpha, the departure center for American troops going on rest and recuperation leaves. Camp Alpha provides no USO shows, doughnut Dollies or pinups, but is still one of the major morale boosters for the troops. And the veterans who run the camp, located inside sprawling Tan Nhut Air Base, plan to keep that way.
Capt. Bill Hammand of Tallahassee, Ala., the officer in charge of Camp Alpha's 18-man staff, is a veteran of combat with the 1st Infantry Division.
"The troops look forward to being here," he says. "They're tired and tense and get to get out fast. We keep them here one day only and then they're off to wherever they choose to go."
Army regulations allow a serviceman one seven-day rest and recuperation period out of the country during his 12-month tour in Viet Nam, but he must be in Viet Nam three months before he becomes eligible to go.
In addition, a serviceman is entitled to two leave periods of five days each during his tour, these are taken within South Viet Nam.
Servicemen who qualify for rest and recuperation have a choice of eight different places to go—Hawaii, Hong Kong, Tokyo, Bangkok, Singapore, Manila, Taipei, Kuala Lumpur.
Their transportation, usually aboard a commercial jet airplane, is provided by the government.

No Special Session, Says Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Monday it is not probable or likely that he will call a special session of the legislature to appropriate $2.7 million in surplus public school funds for teachers.
The Arkansas Education Association's Council on Education, in a resolution, urged Faubus to call a special session before he leaves office in January for the teacher money appropriation.
The AEA is concerned because Jim Johnson, Democratic candidate for governor, has said he would prefer to spend the money to expand the free textbook programs into the upper four grades of public schools.
Textbooks currently are provided through the eighth grade.
Faubus has said he would rather see the money go to teachers and at one time indicated that he would call a special session to see that the money went for that purpose.
He has been saying for the past week, however, that a special session is unlikely.
Legislators reportedly have complained about the possibility of being called to Little Rock while the general election campaign is in progress, since many have Republican opponents this year.

On another matter, Faubus said that the usable surplus in the penitentiary fund, which he hoped to use to build isolation cells for unruly prisoners and new homes for wardens, was only $58,000 instead of $100,000 as he first believed.

Falls 4 Floors and Escapes Any Injury

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Rubin Zufelt, a steelworker, fell four stories Friday while welding steel beams at the new Tucson City Hall.
"Suddenly everything dropped out from under me," he said. "I could see all the stuff whizzing by."
Zufelt, 32, landed on a layer of corrugated roofing on the third floor.
Monday he was back at work on the seventh floor. "I'm a little stiff," he said, "but this is the way I make my living."

Sputnik 1 Went Up 9 Years Ago

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Nine years ago today the Soviet Union launched the first man-made satellite, Sputnik 1, and astounded the world.
Nowhere was the shock felt more than in the United States, which considered itself the unchallenged technological leader on earth.

Not only had the Soviet Union scored a tremendous technological and propaganda breakthrough, it also had demonstrated a rocket of great power, capable of hurling nuclear warheads more than 5,000 miles. The best the United States had at the time was a 1,500-mile ballistic missile.

American prestige sank to a new low two months later — in December, 1957 — when it rushed a Vanguard satellite rocket to a Cape Canaveral launching pad, only to have the rocket explode a few inches off the ground.

The U.S. finally put a satellite in to orbit four months later, in January, 1958. That was Explorer 1, which discovered the Van Allen Radiation Belt.

But the Russians, with their huge rockets, ran up a clear lead in the budding space race: the first rocket to hit the moon, the first to take pictures of its back side, the heaviest satellites. And on April 12, 1961, the most glittering feat of all, orbiting the first spaceman, Yuri Gagarin.

It was 10 months later before John H. Glenn became the first orbiting American.

But as the United States rallied its great technical and industrial know-how, gradually this nation caught up and forged to a lead in almost every category of space flight.

Although nobody knew it at the time, the tide began to turn March 23, 1965, when the first two-man Gemini craft shot into orbit. It was only a five-hour flight and seemed overshadowed by a 24-hour trip just five days earlier by the Soviet Voskhod 2. On that flight, cosmonaut Alexei Leonov became history's first space walker.

Since Voskhod 2 — nearly 19 months ago — no Soviet cosmonauts have gone into space. In that period, nine Gemini craft in orbit have wrested every manned space record away from the Russians.

A total of 24 U.S. astronauts have logged 1,604 hours in space, compared to 11 cosmonauts and 507 hours.

The final Gemini flight is set for November and will be followed a month later by the first launching of a manned Apollo moonship — a two-week orbital trip by three astronauts as another step toward the goal of manned flight to the moon.

America's Gemini astronauts demonstrated all the techniques necessary for traveling to the moon — rendezvous, linkup with another satellite, maneuverable spacecraft, and long duration trips up to 14 days.

Something Happens to a Suitor When He Becomes a Husband

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Nothing changes a man more than marriage.
As every wife finds out, something happens to a suitor when he becomes a husband. When he settles down to being a paycheck papa, the blithe-spirited Romeo in him disappears.
Now and then she wonders if he really is the same fellow.
For example:
He used to bring her armfuls of roses — red, red roses. Now if he takes her home a bunch of radishes from the supermarket he whines, "Was this trip really necessary?"

Before the wedding he'd climb the highest mountain for her. After the wedding he complains if he has to lift his feet up while she runs the vacuum cleaner past the sofa.

Once he used to like to cradle his head in her lap before the fireplace and read poetry aloud to her. He still reads aloud to her — but all he reads is the Riot Act.

There was a time when he admired her because she was the best-dressed girl in their crowd. Now, if she even treats herself to a cheap new house dress, the tightwad yelps, "How much did that cost me? Anyway, I liked you better in the old one."

Before the wedding, nothing was too good for her. After the wedding, anything becomes just too much trouble.

On their wedding day he lifted her up lightly and carried her across the threshold of their apartment. Now he yowls like a male banshee if she asks him once a month to ferry one little old bundle of garbage out to the incinerator.

Before they were married he loved to tour the night spots with her. Now she feels she is lucky if she can get him to take her out for an evening even to attend a wake.

It still thrills her to remember how romantic he once was. But, alas, then his romance turned into rheumatism.

Is this the same fellow who used to like to help her with the dishes as he told her of the dream life they'd have together? Now the only time he comes into the kitchen is when he rushes to the refrigerator for a can of beer during television commercials.

Prison Holding Hess Costly

BERLIN (AP) — The United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union may begin talks on ways to cut the cost to the West German government of keeping Rudolf Hess in the huge Spandau Prison complex.

The one-time deputy Fuehrer, now 72, is serving a life sentence imposed by the 1946 Nuremberg war crimes tribunal.

The last of Spandau's other six inmates — former Hitler youth leader Baldur von Schirach and Nazi Armaments Minister Albert Speer — were released Friday after completing 20-year sentences.

He used to think she ate like a bird. Today, if she reaches for a second piece of breakfast toast, he glares at her as if she were a pelican.

Before the wedding, he worried if she even developed a head cold. Now, if she came down with double pneumonia, he'd say, "Women are always running to the doctor for something or other."

Before the wedding he was as handsome as Adonis. But now the big slob won't even shave between Friday and Monday.

"What happened to him?" the wife asks herself.

Nothing. He just got married and became a typical American husband — the kind that women in other parts of the world think is so wonderful.

But they don't have to live with him.

Humphreys Purchase Big Apartment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Hubert H. Humphreys are joining the ranks of city cliff dwellers and moving into a fancy high-rise apartment near Capitol Hill.

One of the reasons? So Humphrey can go home for lunch.

"This is something we've thought about for a long time," Mrs. Humphrey said in an interview. "We're excited about the move."

The vice president and his wife plan to move within the next month, but say, "We're taking our time."

There's decorating, for instance. "I haven't had time to give it much thought," Mrs. Humphrey said.

She plans to use furniture from their pleasant two-story three-bedroom home in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., for the apartment.

The new apartment is on the eighth floor of a nine-story cooperative in southwest Washington, along the Potomac River. A cooperative is an apartment in which tenants buy space as one would purchase a house.

The Humphreys haven't disclosed the price, but similar apartments range in the $60,000 to $75,000 bracket. The building has an indoor swimming pool, a sun terrace, gardens with playground equipment and a sailboat pond. Their apartment has two balconies overlooking the river, two bedrooms, a den and a large living-dining room.

Congress has voted $750,000 for an official home for the vice president on the Naval Observatory grounds next to the British Embassy. But President Johnson and Humphrey decided to delay spending the money because of the cost of the war in Viet Nam.

The Humphreys have sold their Chevy Chase house to a realty firm. It had a reported value of $40,000, but the sale price was not revealed.

Moscow Has Sobering Up Stations

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — One of Moscow's better-known institutions — the sobering-up station — has come under attack for being too hospitable.

The capital's popular newspaper, Vechernyaya Moskva (Evening Moscow), caulked for some limit on the number of visits a "client" can make in a year.

It satirized "champions" who stagger in frequently, get bedded down, take a headache powder in the morning, wash up and wander off. The cost is 8 rubles

— $8.88. Drunkenness, as such, is not a crime and the clients at the sobering-up stations are not booked. They can make use of the facilities whenever their condition warrants it.

Comrade Antoshin, head of Moscow's sobering-up station No. 7, called Viktor Gulyayev and Leonid Ushakov his "champions."

Evening Moscow said that with all due respect to Viktor and Leonid, it was not sure they truly deserved to be called champions. It said the title is hopelessly in dispute, since no records or statistics are kept.

Evening Moscow suggested that records be kept on repeaters and that they be given some form of punishment for more than five visits a year to the sobering-up stations.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—Which of the chemical elements is named for a mythological god?

A—Mercury. The element is a liquid which flows so freely that it was named for the fleet-footed messenger of the gods in Roman mythology.

ANNIVERSARY SPEAKER for the Oct. 6 dedication of the Winston Churchill
Memorial and Library at Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., is Dr. Kim Jong
Pil, chairman of South
Korea's majority Democratic-Republican party. He will deliver the 20th anniversary Green Lecture. It was on the Westminster campus in 1946 that Winston Churchill delivered his "Iron Curtain" address as one of the college's annual Green Lectures on ethics and foreign affairs, marking the beginning of the Cold War. The 20 years between the two addresses have seen a shift in Cold War emphasis—from the Soviet Union to Communist China as the major threat to free world peace and security.

CALENDAR OF EVENTS
The Blevins P.T.A. will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at the school.

The Lunch Room will be in charge of the program. Topic to be discussed is "School Lunch Serves Youth". Participants are:
Mrs. E. C. Burton, Mrs. Alcola
Wade, Mrs. Dottie Colbert and Mrs. Aquilla Bealey. All members are urged to be present.

The Yerger Band Parents' Club will hold its regular meeting on Wednesday night in the band building. All members are urged to be present. Business of vital importance is on the agenda.

A 'Calendar Rally' will be held at Bethel A. M. E. Church Sunday night, October 9th at 7:30 p.m. The twelve months of the year will be represented with a talent presentation, musical or oratory.

Silicon Has No Effect
On Breast Development

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have heard that silicon has an effect on the female breast hormones and stimulates bust development.
Is it habit-forming?

A—Silicon is not a drug but a synthetic silica resin which, when introduced into the body, causes little or no reaction in the tissues.

For this reason, it is sometimes used by plastic surgeons to fill in defects left by the removal of tumors. It has also been widely used to build up the breasts in women who think their breasts are too small. This is done by some qualified surgeons. A specially made silicon rubber form is filled with silicon gel and placed under the breast.

Unfortunately, some unethical doctors have been injecting liquid silicon under the breasts with a needle. This procedure has been declared illegal by the Food and Drug Administration because this type of implant does not hold its shape and it interferes with the detection of breast cancer. Two deaths following this operation have been reported. They were caused by the use of an industrial rather than medical grade of silicon.

Q—Is there any exercise that will help to relieve constipation?

A—Although various exercises have been advocated for constipation, none is of proven value. Why not increase your intake of vegetables and fruits?

The game of polo was played in Persia as far back as Darius the Great in 522 B.C. It takes its name from the Tibetan word pulu, meaning "ball." Polo spread to Constantinople, then eastward through China and Japan and from Tibet to India. The first westerners to play polo were British tea planters who lived in Assam. They formed the first European Polo Club in 1859.

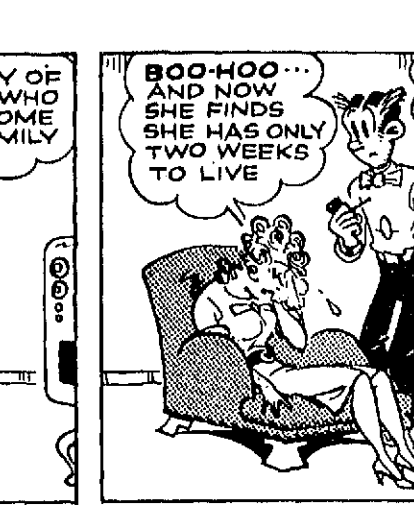

"Jane Ellen's on a diet. Poor thing, she's used up all her calories through next Wednesday!"

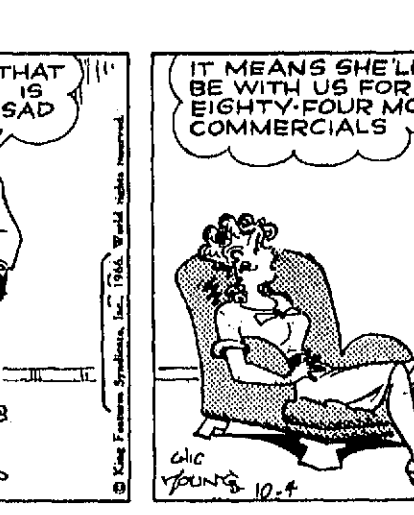

Today's hand represents a cinch slam for any good declarer as long as the defenders aren't expert players also. Expert South wins the heart lead and looks the hand over. He counts 11 easy tricks and can try for the twelfth in either clubs or diamonds. He also notes that East opened the bidding and that East needs both the king of diamonds and the ace of clubs for his opening bid. In that case there is no way to make a trick with the king of clubs and the diamond finesse is going to lose. After this preliminary consideration South plays a few rounds of trumps and cashes dummy's second high heart. Then he gets back to his hand and runs the rest of his trumps. This brings everyone down to three cards. South is holding two diamonds and a club; dummy the ace-queen of diamonds and king of clubs and East will probably have discarded down to the singleton ace of clubs and king-ten of diamonds. South will lead a club. East will take his ace and have to lead a diamond to dummy. An expert East may make things tough for declarer. He will note that his partner has shown up with only two trumps. Then East will count

MEMORIAL IN MISSOURI

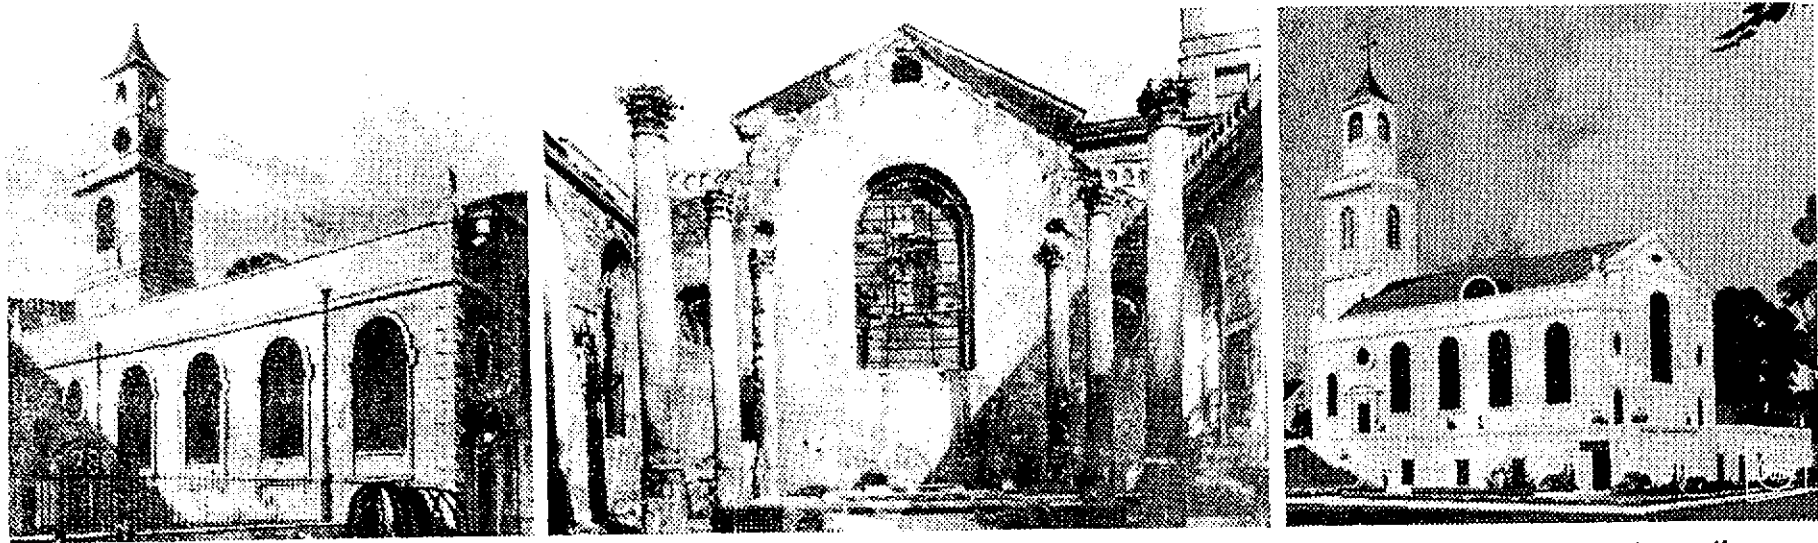

A 289-year-old church shattered in London's World War II blitz is being reconstructed on the campus of Westminster College at Fulton, Mo., as a memorial to one of the greatest men and most historic moments of recent history. Dedication on Oct. 6, 1966, of the cornerstone of rebuilt St. Mary Aldermanbury church, a gift from Britain shipped stone by stone to the United States, comes just over 20 years after Sir Winston Churchill delivered a speech at Westminster marking the beginning of the Cold War and adding a now-familiar phrase to the English language—the "Iron Curtain."

Reconstruction of St. Mary Aldermanbury church nears completion at Westminster College. Originally designed by Sir Christopher Wren, it was originally built on the London site of an even more ancient church destroyed in the Great Fire of 1666. It now becomes the Winston Churchill Memorial and Library in the United States.

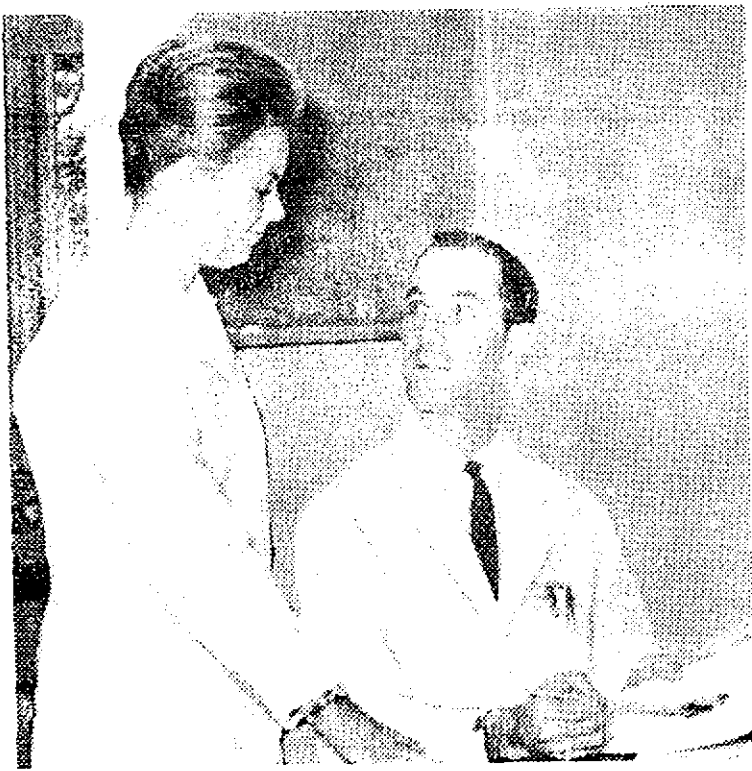

President Truman introduces Churchill at Westminster College March 5, 1946. The "Iron Curtain" passage, warning of peril in the division of Europe into Communist East and free West, caught the headlines but the emphasis of Churchill's address, entitled "The Sinews of Peace," was on avoiding war through free world and particularly Anglo-American unity.

Sketched by an artist in 1814, left, St. Mary Aldermanbury originally stood in Cheapside, London's financial district. A Nazi incendiary bomb raid in 1941 gutted the church, center, and after the war it was marked for demolition. Artist's conception at right shows the reconstructed church on the Westminster campus. The memorial, to contain a collection of Churchill letters, photographs, manuscripts and paintings, is being financed by private contributions. Nearly $1 million already has been pledged toward the fund goal of $1.5 million.

Snakes: Florida Has 'em as Well as Arkansas

One of the state's liabilities that Floridians seldom mention is its poisonous snakes. Florida has all four of the poisonous varieties known to the North American continent: Rattlesnake, cotton-mouth moccasin, copperhead, and coral.

That's one field in which Hempstead county has Florida tied, for we have all four varieties. As a matter of fact, the reptile experts of the St. Louis Zoo come down here every year — paying particular attention to the rare coral, a relative of the cobra.

But I don't believe snakes are quite the everyday occurrence here that they are in Florida. The sunshine state has 'em in the heart of its cities.

My brother-in-law, Dr. C. H. Yeager, and I drove up to his house at 4521 Bay Shore Rd., Sarasota, when I was on vacation there last month, and we noted a Volkswagen parked across the street with the woman driver standing away from the car, obviously in distress. I walked over and inquired.

"Nothing wrong with the car," he replied, "except that a rattlesnake is coiled around the muckle of the right front wheel."

I called the doctor; he got a garden tool and chopped off the snake's head. Yeager has a sense of humor. He then cut off the tip of the snake's tail with its nine rattles, and asked the woman if he cared to have it as a memento. I'll have to hand it to the lady. She calmly wrapped the specimen in a piece of paper and put it in her handbag, thanked us, and drove away.

This occurred in the heart of Sarasota. It is a fact that some families keep pet blacksnakes around the premises just for protection against rattlers. The blacksnake is a stranger, a great eater of mice and rats, and non-poisonous — but what makes humans cherish him is that he is deadly foe of the rattler. And not just in Florida. As a boy I lived five months out of the year on a mountain farm in northern Pennsylvania. Blacksnakes were abundant — but I never saw a rattler on that particular mountain.

If Floridians turn up with unexpected pets I assure you they know what they're doing.

Specialist on Homes Here Wed.

Ester Tennyson, Extension Management Specialist, will be in Hope, Wednesday, October 5, to offer suggestions on window treatment. The training will be from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. in the Extension Office Conference Room in the County Courthouse, according to Lorea McBride, Home Demonstration Agent. This training is part of the Housing Short course being conducted in the county, however, Miss McBride invites those needing help with window treatment to attend.

The specialist will be present for practical decorating ideas for window treatments, including face lifting decorations for houses, Miss Tennyson will be displaying a variety of new fabrics.

Africa Gets New Nation

MASERU, Basutoland (AP) — Africa gets its second new nation within a week at one o'clock past midnight tonight as Basutoland, a British enclave surrounded by South Africa, becomes independent Lesotho.

Last Friday Botswana, formerly Bechuanaland, became the black-ruled country to border white-ruled South Africa. Independence for Basutoland lies nearby Swaziland, slated for independence in 1968, and Malawi Rhodesia the last of the British territories in Africa. Basutoland has been a British protectorate since 1868.

Farm Bureau Plans Cancer Education

Hempstead County Farm Bureau, their families, and the public will have an opportunity to attend a program co-sponsored by the Farm Bureau and American Cancer Society, to give them up to date information which will help them guard against cancer.

Three films dealing with the nature of cancer, the warning signals of the disease, and the smoking problem as it relates to cancer will be shown. The latest cancer literature will be distributed, and Dr. Jack Royal, of Hope, will be present to make a talk, with an opportunity for questions from the audience.

This is part of a statewide project of the Farm Bureau and the American Cancer Society in Arkansas.

Jonesboro Sun Misses Edition

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — A press breakdown Monday caused the Jonesboro Evening Sun to miss an edition, the first time that's happened in more than 30 years.

Managing Editor John Troutt Jr. said about 300 newspapers had been printed when the press stopped. He said the newspaper had received about 3,000 calls from subscribers wondering what had happened to their paper.

Troutt said the Sun would resume publication today with a morning and an afternoon edition.

Men Over 26 Who Escaped Draft May Be Called After All

By DICK BARNES
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some young men who got past their 26th birthday on draft deferments may be called to military service after all.

Selective Service confirmed Monday night that it is ordering pre-induction physical examinations for all 26-to-35-year-olds who had deferments but are now classified 1-A or 1-A-O.

The national recheck could produce about 50,000 potential draftees — about one month's quota in terms of this month's draft call.

A man's draft liability normally ends at his 26th birthday. But if he was deferred for any reason — often to continue his schooling — he is draft-eligible until age 35.

Deferments held past age 26 have in recent years meant draft exemption, because Selective Service has not inducted from the older group.

A spokesman said Monday night, however, that 28,153 men in the previously deferred 26-35 bracket already have been found qualified for service.

Local boards were ordered in an unpublished move two weeks ago to give physicals to the remaining 41,780 men in this category. Under normal acceptance-rejection patterns, about half would pass the physical.

The spokesman said the completed inventory would indicate how many older men would be available if needed.

They would be placed in what is known as the fifth priority category for induction.

Some men in the fourth category — those married in recent years during a period of automatic deferment for married men — are now being drafted.

The categories affected by any given monthly draft call varies from local board to local board, depending on manpower availability.

Thus, one board might fill its quota from all young, single men while another board might eventually have to call a previously deferred 35-year-old.

The draft call for October is selected.

49,200 men due to a recent boost of 3,000. The present November plan is to induct 43,700.

The Pentagon said earlier it expects a lower call in December since training of recruits does not begin during the holiday season.

ASC Vote to Be Held by Mail in Nov.

The ASC County Committee announced today that the 1966 community elections for the purpose of electing community committeemen will be held by mail in November 1966 to serve for the term beginning December 1, 1966. The slate of nominees for each community will consist of six or more nominees.

Eligible voters may make nominations by petition if desired. Each petition must be limited to one nominee and must be signed by six or more eligible voters. An eligible voter may sign as many petitions as he desires.

Persons nominated by petition who are eligible and willing to serve will be included on the slate of nominees if the petition is received in the ASCS county office not later than October 21, 1966.

It is desirable to nominate farmers currently engaged in the operation of a farm, who are well qualified for committee work and who will be representative of the various sections and types of agriculture in the community.

If a person nominated by petition is found ineligible, he will be notified of such determination prior to completion of the slate of nominees and he may appeal to the county committee not later than November 1, 1966.

The ASC community committee and the ASC County Committee may make such additional nominations as are required or as determined desirable except that not more than a total of ten nominees, not including nominations by petition, may be selected.

Gas Firm Wants to Issue Stock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas Western Gas Co. at Fayetteville asked the state Public Service Commission Monday for authority to issue additional common stock.

The application was for one-fiftieth of a share for each of the 1,700,588 shares outstanding. The firm said it wanted obtain a wider distribution of its stock to help protect the market value of its common stock for future capital requirements.

Some GE Workers Returning

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 9,000 union employees began returning to their jobs at General Electric Corp. plants today as the government pressed its effort to end a contract dispute that could affect the U. S. War effort in Viet Nam.

Local issues had prompted the walkouts at plants in Schenectady, N.Y., and Pittsfield, Mass. As the union employees returned to work, government and military officials arranged a Pentagon briefing for GE and union negotiators.

Eleven unions have threatened a nationwide strike in two weeks unless agreement is reached on a new contract.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the service secretaries are to brief company and union officials on what Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz calls "the vital importance of continued production at GE to the national defense."

Wirtz called the afternoon meeting a procedural session and said negotiations to end the threat of a nationwide strike against the huge defense producer will resume immediately after the talks — perhaps at the Pentagon.

GE manufactures aircraft and helicopter engines and other military items.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and 10 associated unions agreed Sunday to a request by President Johnson to postpone the strike for two weeks.

But some 20,000 of GE's 120,000 union employees walked off the job at four plants after their contracts expired at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Local union leaders said the strikes involved local issues and thus were not affected by national negotiations.

Fred Borch, GE president, said after a meeting with three Cabinet officers Monday the strikers were returning to their jobs.

Wirtz was joined Monday by McNamara and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor in separate, hour-long conferences with company and union officials in Connor's office.

Wirtz said after the meetings that both sides agreed to the government's insistence that there be no break in the flow of munitions to the forces in Viet Nam.

Meanwhile, IUE President Paul Jennings said the major national issues in the dispute involve a contract provision for arbitration of grievances and a cost-of-living escalation clause that would protect union members against the threat of rising prices during the term of the three-year contract.

The union has indicated it would accept the company offer of a 4 per cent increase in each of the three years, but only if the escalator clause is in the pact.

Union officials say their men presently earn an average hourly wage of $2.80, plus 45 cents an hour in fringe benefits.

Umpire Woman Hit, Killed

NASHVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Nellie Tinkerton, 72, of Umpire was killed Monday when she was hit by a car on a county road in northern Howard County.

State Trooper John Eggar quoted the driver, Charles House of Ashdown, as saying Mrs. Tinkerton was apparently trying to catch a cat when he came over a hill and was unable to avoid hitting her.

House was hospitalized in a state of shock, Eggar said.

Allies Move in on Cong, 478 Killed

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American, Korean and Vietnamese troops drove from three sides today against a Communist force on which they already had inflicted a three-day toll of 478 killed or captured.

The allied troops kept up their pressure on a force of North Vietnamese army regulars and Viet Cong main force units operating in the mountains and lowlands near the coast of central Viet Nam 30 miles north of Qui Nhon.

The drive got under way Sunday when helicopter-borne troops of the U. S. 1st Cavalry Division (airmobile) launched the operation. Since then the Americans, bearing down from the north, have reported killing 291 Communists and capturing 131.

From the south, units of the Korean Tiger Division pressed northward in the Phu Cat Mountains and reported killing 52 of the enemy since Sunday.

From the west, South Vietnamese infantrymen and paratroopers worked toward the sea. They reported four Viet Cong killed.

U.S. and Vietnamese patrol boats waited offshore to intercept any of the hard-pressed Communists who might try to escape by sampan.

A U.S. spokesman said he did not know the size of the enemy force. In the initial contact Sunday, U.S. cavalrymen were opposed by an estimated 300 troops but the Communist force now is known to be much larger. One report said the North Vietnamese unit was the 610th Division.

U.S. casualties were reported Night.

United Fund Drive to Be Planned

An organizational meeting of the 1967 United Fund Drive will be held in the conference room at the Chamber of Commerce office Tuesday evening, October 4th at 7:30 p.m.

Ray Lawrence, the 1967 president, of this organization, has stated that he hopes to be able to get the drive started within the next few days in order to take advantage of all the National advertising for the United Fund Drives throughout the United States.

A large group of local citizens have been invited to attend this meeting for the purpose of discussing plans for an all out drive for this fund. "We urge all interested citizens to meet with us and lend their assistance in making the 1967 United Fund Drive the most successful one since the fund has been established in Hope," said Mr. Lawrence.

Meanwhile, IUE President Paul Jennings said the major national issues in the dispute involve a contract provision for arbitration of grievances and a cost-of-living escalation clause that would protect union members against the threat of rising prices during the term of the three-year contract.

The union has indicated it would accept the company offer of a 4 per cent increase in each of the three years, but only if the escalator clause is in the pact.

3 Projects for Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Appropriations Committee approved funds Monday for three public works projects in Arkansas.

The funds, all for construction, included $500,000 for the Dierks Reservoir, $7.6 million for the Ouachita and Black rivers in Arkansas and Louisiana and $2 million for Red River levees and bank stabilization below Denison Dam in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas.

The House Appropriations Committee approved $6.5 million on Sept. 15 for the Ouachita and Black rivers, but did not include the other two projects.

$23.6 Million in School Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — About $23.6 million in new school bonds were approved and $6.5 million worth were defeated in the Sept. 27 school election, the state Education Department reported Monday.

Mrs. Thelma Spinnenweber, supervisor of loans, said the total may be changed because of late-reporting districts.

Unpredictable Hurricane Slams Florida

MIAMI — Hurricane Inez unpredictable, assaulted southeast Florida's "Gold Coast" today with howling gales, driving rain and wild surf.

Defying weathermen to call the shots on her movements, the storm turned during the night from a northward course toward the Bahamas and thrashed instead on a new track that appeared to be taking her into the Florida Keys.

Moving slightly south of westward down the Florida coast, Inez' gales clawed at the beaches from Fort Lauderdale southward through Miami to the Keys.

Top winds were 85 miles an hour, far below the 175-mile punch she once possessed, but Inez was large and her slow movement meant that the coast was in for a battering that would go on for many hours.

Rains up to 10 inches were expected to deluge southeast Florida and Inez still carried the threat of tornadoes like the one that killed a child Sunday in Nassau.

Gordon Dunn, head of Miami's National Hurricane Center, said that on the present course the eye of the storm would go ashore next near Key Largo.

But never have weather men had a storm on their hands so tough to figure, and Dunn added, "That is, unless she turns around and goes in some other direction."

With high pressure systems to east and west hauling and tugging at her, Inez stood motionless for several hours Monday. Then, after forecasters had charted a course to Great Abaco Island in the Bahamas, she turned for Miami.

Above-normal tides ripped and tore at the beaches as Inez lashed the area from Fort Lauderdale southward with howling gales and driving rains.

Dunn said Inez, no longer the monstrous killer she had been in a long rampage through the Caribbean Sea, probably would bring tides no higher than four to six feet above normal.

That meant, he added, no need for wholesale evacuation of the shoreline.

Dunn said winds probably would be no stronger than bare hurricane force of 75 miles an hour in the metropolitan Miami area.

Hurricane warning flags were raised at 4 a.m. from Fort Lauderdale southward to Marathon in the Florida Keys. Gale warnings were up from Vero Beach to Key West, the nation's southernmost city.

Fulbright Fears Power of President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is in danger of becoming the instrument of the President, and is becoming so easily and complacently — if not enthusiastically.

That's Sen. J. William Fulbright's comment on the administration's silence on the U.S. buildup in Thailand.

Fulbright, whose projected hearings on the Thailand situation ran into an administration brick wall, told the Senate Monday:

"I deplore our decision not to discuss what we are doing in Thailand because the Thais do not wish us to do so.

"We are weakening our democratic processes either because our troops are in Thailand on shaky legal and political grounds or because of the Thai government's political vulnerability or perhaps because of both reasons."

On another topic, Fulbright called on the State Department to advise the Senate of "the precise status" of Mme. Ching Kai-Shek in the United States, he told the Senate he had read recently that Mme. Chiang, wife of the president of Nationalist China, is making a one-year tour of the United States and is delivering speeches "calling upon the United States to use its power to overthrow Red China."
